Mystery Awaits on the Mysterious Yorkshire Moors

- Ideal for fans of Masterpiece: Mystery!, Agatha Christie, Rhys Bowen, and Jacqueline Winspear
- Readers will feel like they've stepped onto the lovely but dangerous moors
- Deering's wit balances with intricate plotting for a delightful cozy mystery read

At the urgent request of an old school friend, Drew and Madeline Farthering come to Bloodworth Park Lodge in the midst of the Yorkshire moors, a place as moody and mysterious as a Brontë hero. There have been several worrisome incidents out on the moor—property destroyed, fires started, sheep and cattle scattered—and worst of all, the vicar has been found dead on the steps of the church.

Drew's friend is obviously smitten with his bride of eight months, though it's hard to imagine what she sees in the awkward man. Drew can't help wondering if her affections lie more with the man's money and estate, while her romantic interests focus on their fiery Welsh gamekeeper. As the danger grows ever closer, it's up to Drew to look past his own prejudices, determine what is really going on, and find the killer before it's too late.
