Saddle Up for Adventure, Romance, and Lots of Laughs in Connealy's Latest

- Bestselling author Mary Connealy delivers a laugh-out-loud, edge-of-your-seat romp
- Winner of a Carol Award and a finalist for the Christy and RITA awards, Connealy is a leader in the category of humorous historical romance
- Shannon and Tucker have a shot at a love that lasts forever . . . if they can stay alive long enough to realize it!

Matthew Tucker survives a grizzly attack by jumping over a cliff into a rushing river. Unexpectedly, Shannon Wilde takes the plunge with him. Going through a series of waterfalls and rapids turns into a bonding experience.

By the time they battle their way back to civilization, Shannon has been thoroughly compromised, and only a wedding will do. A mountain man who loves to wander in the wilderness far from other people finds himself hitched to a young woman with a passel of relatives, a homestead, and a flock of sheep to care for.

As they learn to live with each other, strange things begin to happen on Shannon's land. Someone evil clearly wants to drive them off, but whoever it is apparently didn't count on Tucker. Trying to scare Matthew Tucker just makes him mad—and trying to hurt the woman he's falling in love with sets off something even Matthew never expected.

“Connealy spins a Civil War-era romance with book one of the WILD AT HEART series. Her feisty female characters win our hearts.”
—RT Book Reviews on Tried and True

“Connealy's view of the Idaho Territory in 1866 is a surprising delight in this inaugural novel of her Wild at Heart romance series . . . The light tale is spiced with both humor and a glimpse into the darker side of the great land rush.”
