1. Tell us about your background in student ministry. How did you get your start?
2. Will you share one of the powerful miracles you've witnessed in your ministry?
3. You spent years ministering to children, but you've come to the realization that ministry really needs to start at home. How did you get to that point? What does this look like for parents?
4. Talk to us about the connection between church and home. Why do we often see such a disconnect there?
5. How does God use our children to advance the Kingdom? What role must parents play in that?
6. How can parents help shape their child's faith in day-to-day life?
7. You mention in Raising Spirit-Led Kids that we often train our children in what not to do rather than what to do. Will you give us an example of this and an example of how to reverse our teaching? Why can this method of raising children be problematic?
8. You give a great example in your book of leading a child to the truth rather than just giving the truth to them. Why is this so important?
9. Leading a child to the truth can seem really challenging when the enemy is attacking them with lies. How do we navigate those difficult situations?
10. What are some common mistakes you've seen parents make in trying to protect their children? How does over-protection actually prevent children from living a Spirit-led life?
11. Where can our audience go to connect with you and purchase a copy of Raising Spirit-Led Kids?
