1. Scripture is full of music and songs, lines that are meant to be sung. Why is music such a powerful tool for worship?
2. You say that science even supports the power of music in healing our brains and bodies. Share what you discovered.
3. How did you first discover the power of singing the Word of God?
4. Many people are intimidated when they hear the invitation you're offering. How can we learn to sing the Scriptures? Give us some starting tips.
5. What are your favorite verses or passages to put to music?
6. You invite us to make the Word personal. Say more about that.
7. How does singing by yourself differ from corporate worship?
8. You share an amazing story of ministering in Mozambique and quieting an angry mob with song. Tell us how God moved.
9. You and your husband traveled to Israel in 2015 and found yourselves in the midst of a war zone. God prompted you to start worshiping in the midst of the bomb blasts. Would you share that story with us?
10. Julie, what happens when we sing but sense that there has not been a breakthrough? How can we hold to God's promises by faith?
11. What is your hope for those who read this book?
