

A Bold, Courageous Call to Stand for Christ in a Hostile and Turbulent Culture

Christians today live as exiles in a hostile culture where never-ending conflicts and ferocious adversaries are commonplace. The future is uncertain and frightening—yet followers of Jesus must live fearlessly for Christ and speak compassionate truth to those still in darkness. The love of Jesus cannot stay silent.

In So Many Lions, So Few Daniels: Living without Compromise in a World in Need of Truth apologist and popular speaker Ray Comfort draws on the familiar Biblical story of Daniel to embolden readers with the confidence and courage they need to face the lions of our culture and stand firm for the Gospel—regardless of the cost.

In So Many Lions, So Few Daniels, Ray challenges readers to:

- fight for faith, confidence, and courage despite seemingly constant trials and tribulations
- become bold and fearless risk-takers for the Gospel
- identify what is truly important—reaching the lost for Christ
- surrender everything to God and make a stand for truth

"Through faith in Jesus, we have been delivered from him who walks about as a roaring lion, and from the ultimate devouring lion, death itself. That's our glorious victory. Meanwhile, until the trumpet sounds, we must continue to fight the good fight of faith, a fight in which we need more warriors," writes Comfort.

So Many Lions, So Few Daniels: Living without Compromise in a World in Need of Truth

- Thanks for joining us! Will you tell us why you decided to write So Many Lions, So Few Daniels? What is the story behind the title?
 - There are many roaring lions that will try to terrify us and tell us to keep silent about Jesus. What are some common 'lions' that people face today?
 - At the end of each chapter, you tell stories about various encounters you've had witnessing to others. Which one of these is most memorable to you? Why?
 - Just like Daniel, our windows are opened and we have nothing to hide. How should this reality shape our attitude toward God?
 - One of your chapters is called "Daniel the risk-taker". How did Daniel take risks for God, and how can we model this risk-taking for Jesus in our own lives?
 - Sharing the Gospel should be a regular practice for Christians. Why are so many of us complacent, and how can we eliminate this complacency when it comes to sharing the Gospel with others?
 - Why can YouTube be an effective ministry tool? What would you say to those who would argue against using technology to evangelize?
 - What do Christians have that the rest of the world does not?
 - How does the story of Daniel encourage Christians to share the love of Christ with others?
 - Where can our audience go to connect with you and purchase a copy of So Many Lions, So Few Daniels?

QUOTES from So Many Lions, So Few Daniels

"Dear Christian, be strong. Yes, be strong. Take courage from the store of rations of trust in God. Do it now. Have an attitude of courage. It's attainable. Simply say, "Lord, I trust You. I trust You today to give me an Ethiopian eunuch, a woman at the well, someone with a heart that You have prepared to receive the gospel. And give me the wisdom to say the right things. Make me wise for the gospel's sake."

"It is for our benefit, our great gain, that we surrender all to Him. He doesn't need us; we need Him more than we need our next breath. Therefore, like Daniel, surrender all. Like Daniel, make a stand for righteousness. When the raging river of lust for money, power, and sex tries to push us downstream, we stay out of its waters."

"Unbelief paves the way for sin. Why do you think Adam sinned? It was because he didn't believe that God would hold him accountable for his disobedience. His unbelief opened the door to death, disease, pain, and endless suffering for the human race. Don't follow in his foolish footsteps."

"We don't have a message of darkness, wrath, and condemnation. We have a message of light, mercy, and life. The coming of Jesus is a glorious hope if we trust in God's mercy."

"Jesus is the beginning and ending of the gospel. He is the beginning and ending of the Scriptures. He is the centerpiece from Genesis 1:1—when the Word was in the beginning, creating all things—to the final verse in the book of Revelation."

"This evil world is in for the ultimate revelation. Jesus is going to rule it with a rod of iron. He will dash evil to pieces like a potter smashes a faulty vase. Every murderer, every vicious rapist, those who have slaughtered babies in the womb, Nazis, the mafia, the evil Mexican Cartel, wicked racists who have hung innocent black people. Every transgression—from sinful deeds to idle words to evil thoughts—all will be punished by the just fury of almighty God. What a glorious day that will be for righteousness, for justice, and for truth!"
