1. Can you share your story of encountering the Holy Spirit and changing your direction toward full-time ministry? How has prophetic revelation changed your life?
2. You open The Way of the Kingdom with your prophetic dream of a heavyweight championship match. Can you share how the Lord spoke to you through that dream?
3. God is not surprised by violence and violent times. Can you share more about how the Kingdom of God has suffered and continues to suffer violence?
4. You describe a person who is offended as being tempted by unbelief. Can you explain this trap, how we can identify it and how we can overcome it? What does being offended by God challenge us to consider? How does the enemy use offense to kill a movement of the Spirit in modern Christians?
5. How does God scandalize? Is this a good thing?
6. In the mission of the Kingdom, you share that believers are called to be shrewd as serpents and innocent as doves. Can you explain what that looks like?
7. In chapter 10, you write, “We are the violent,” and explore these ideas of violent love, violent faith, and violent grace. How do each of these violent attributes help us in our Kingdom mission to gather the harvest and expand the Kingdom?
8. Your book offers powerful “Questions and Activation,” “Read and Meditate,” “Pray” and “Exercise” sections after each chapter. Why did you include these throughout the book? How do you hope they impact your readers?
9. How can your books Prophetic Community, which was published in 2019, and The Way of the Kingdom relate to Christians in a post-pandemic world?
10. Thank you for joining us and sharing about your ministry. Where can our listeners connect with you and get a copy of The Way of the Kingdom?
