

2.3

New Testament References to Samaritans

Matthew 10:5	Jesus instructs his disciples not to take their ministry to any city of the Samaritans.
Luke 9:52–55	Jesus rebukes his disciples after they want to call fire down from heaven to consume a Samaritan village that would not receive them.
Luke 10:30–37	Jesus tells the parable of “the Good Samaritan.”
Luke 17:11	Jesus passes through Samaria on his way from Galilee to Jerusalem.
Luke 17:12–19	Jesus heals ten lepers, and the only one who returns to give thanks is a Samaritan.
John 4:4–42	Jesus converses with a Samaritan woman at a well; other Samaritans persuade him to stay with them for two days, and they acknowledge him as the Savior of the world.
John 8:48	Some Jews accuse Jesus of being a Samaritan (after he has suggested that they are not the true children of Abraham).
Acts 1:8	Jesus says that his disciples are to be his witnesses “in Judea, in Samaria, and to the ends of the earth.”
Acts 8:5–25	Many Samaritans, including Simon Magus, accept baptism from Philip the evangelist; Peter and John bring the gift of the Spirit to the Samaritan converts and preach the gospel to many Samaritan villages.