SAMPLE INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

The Nations Rage
Prayer, Promise and Power in an Anti-Christian Age
by David Sliker

1. David, you are a senior leader at the International House of Prayer in Kansas City. Will you tell us about this ministry and how you started working with it?
2. You mention early in your book that there are three things coming in the days ahead: great glory, great crisis and great judgment. Do you think the Church is equipped for these realities?
3. You were writing this book in 2019, and obviously our world has completely changed in 2020. How does The Nations Rage relate to our current climate?
4. Why do you think so many Christians are fearful of the end times rather than hopeful and awestruck? What role has the Church played in this?
5. So often we think the greatest danger we face is the destruction and chaos that accompany war. What other dangers does our generation face regarding the end times?
6. Why will revival cause the rage of the nations?
7. Talk to us about the day of the Lord. What will happen in this final act of the end times, as you phrase it?
8. As Christians, we all have a personal responsibility within the Church. What is our responsibility here?
9. What is your prayer with this book? How might a person's understanding of the end times change after reading it?
10. Where can our audience go to connect with you and purchase a copy of The Nations Rage?
